

Carson Smith

Special Needs Scholarship

“ Our son with autism has moved between public, private, charter, and home schools just about every year of his academic life...searching for someone who would be able to address his unique gifts and special needs.

We were fortunate. This year we found a wonderful school willing to work with us to address our son's unique strengths and challenges. He is finally thriving in his new environment. This scholarship is helping financially and emotionally over-extended families like ours. "
